

GROWING INTEREST

Paul Warren, a cameraman for National Geographic Channel's "Earth Pulse" show, films members of Marie Tizzard's science class at Grace King High School as they care for black mangrove plants, bald cypress trees and wax myrtle plants Monday. The project, called Coastal Roots, is part of a coastal restoration effort coordinated by Pam Blanchard of Louisiana State University.

STAFF PHOTO BY DONALD STOUT

Times-Picayune April 2000