

GETTING INVOLVED!

As part of a year-long science project to aid in the fight against coastal erosion, several students from LCO participated in Planting Day Thursday. Plants grown from seeds planted a year ago were brought to the lower end of the Golden Meadow Hurricane Protection Levee and planted for the purpose of helping to stop erosion and possibly create a habitat and nursing ground for migratory birds.

Shown with the shovel is Brent Adams while Ben Williams looks on.

Photo by Babs