Beginning Again

Coordinated by Wayne Keller of the Grand Isle Port Commission, students from Lafayette Middle School in Louisiana plant seedlings they grew at school as part of the Coastal Roots Project. The black mangrove seedlings will keep Fili Island from washing away. "You are all heroes," David Bourgeois of the Louisiana Sea Grant Marine Extension Program tells the children. "You are going to save this island."